

Shaping the Future

Envisioning the future you desire.

To shape a future worth fighting for, we must understand the past, accept the present reality, and find that sweet spot where our dreams and possibilities meet.

To reach this desired future, we must map the “next practices” that will take us there. We must find and reinforce our core purpose and the guiding principles that will drive our people to meet this future.

This program area utilises advanced techniques in Future Studies that have been developed in conjunction with futurists such as Dr. Sohail Inayatullah.*
