

Taya Seidler

Senior Associate, Facilitator and Designer

"I'd like to be remembered for my epic engagement with life and my relentless pursuit of my potential in the service of a healthier and more conscious world."

Expertise:

- Leadership Development
- Communication and Collaboration
- Change Management
- Executive Coaching
- Team Performance
- Neuroscience
- Facilitation Skills
- Presentation Skills
- Learning Design

Qualifications:

Bachelor of Arts (QUT)

Certificate IV: Training and Assessment

Certified in NeuroPower Framework -
Leading With the Brain in Mind

Backed by over a decade of national and international experience in education, corporate management and consultancy, Taya's work as an impassioned facilitator designer, educator and coach at Performance Frontiers expertly balances content and process to elicit powerful learning outcomes and cultivate meaningful change.

Taya applies an integrated approach to adult education, creating a stimulating and engaging environment that caters to many different learning styles. Her areas of expertise include leadership development, maximising team performance, communication, collaboration and innovation, presentation skills and facilitation skills. Her work is underpinned by a depth of knowledge in current neuroscience and the psychology of behaviour change.

Taya's facilitation style is vibrant, energetic and empathic, enabling her to quickly build rapport and trust with the people she works with. Expertly balancing content and process, she facilitates an environment that supports both individual learning and collective wisdom in order to consistently elicit powerful learning outcomes for participants.

Taya's corporate management experience both internationally and in Australia enables her to connect with the realities of the workplace environments of her participants. She draws on her experience as a performer and arts educator to develop and deliver programs that use creative forms to explore real-time issues.