

Natalie Richardson

Principal

Expertise:

- Organisational Development
- Leadership Development
- Culture Change
- Positive Psychology
- Change Management
- Facilitation
- Executive Coaching
- Communication
- Relationship Management
- High Performing Teams
- Performance Management
- Strategy
- Brand Development
- Program and Learning Design
- Innovation and Design

Qualifications:

Masters in Positive Psychology,
University of Melbourne

Post-graduate Diploma Cross-
Disciplinary Art and Design (UNSW)

Diploma of Positive Psychology and Wellbeing (Emotional Intelligence Worldwide)

Bachelor in Adult Education with OD
and HR Specialty (Griffith University)

LSI Accreditation (Human Synergistics)

Natalie is a co-creator of change and a passionate advocate for the emerging field of positive psychology.

She combines deep knowledge of human behaviour with a practiced understanding of how organisations work to empower individuals and help businesses and communities to thrive. She works with organisations to implement strategy through their people, by building creative, purpose-driven and trust-based teams.

Natalie specialises in supporting industries undergoing significant reform or market change. There she combines her expertise in positive psychology and systems change to really shift human behaviour and activate the tipping points that make change happen.

She's experienced in multiple sectors including Financial Services, Retail, FMCG, Not-for-Profit, Health and Aged Care. She's also worked throughout the APAC region and led teams across multiple geographies including New Zealand, China, India and the Philippines.

Natalie is also an experienced executive coach, accredited in various tools of coaching, assessment and consulting.

When she's not connecting people with purpose, you can find Natalie conducting art tours at the Gallery of Modern Art, or off the coast of Queensland studying the secrets of reef systems as an accredited PADI Divemaster.